DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. Restriction is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 and 372.
2. This application contains the following inventions or groups of inventions which are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.
3. In accordance with 37 CFR 1.499, applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single invention to which the claims must be restricted.

Group I, claim(s) 33-37, drawn to a method of drawing paper webs through a longitudinal folding hopper.

Group II, claim(s) 38-62, drawn to a device for drawing paper webs through a longitudinal folding hopper.

4. The inventions listed as Groups I and II do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, they lack the same or corresponding special technical features for the following reasons:

Groups I and II share a common technical feature of fastening together a plurality of sheets before introduction to a longitudinal folding hopper and having a device in the paper web draw in device for holding the fastened together webs, however this technical feature is not special because it is known in the art, as shown for example in DE 2754179 A1 which show electrostatically fastening paper webs together before introduction to a longitudinal folding hopper and having a device for holding the fastened together webs in the draw in device (See Figure 2).

5. If Group I is elected then a species restriction is required.
6. This application contains claims directed to more than one species of the generic invention. These species are deemed to lack unity of invention because they are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

The species are as follows:

- A. Fastening the webs with adhesive (appears to read on claim 35).
- B. Fastening the webs by parchementizing (appears to read on claim 36).

C. Fastening the webs with electrical charge (appears to read on claim 37).

Applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single species to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. The reply must also identify the claims readable on the elected species, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered non-responsive unless accompanied by an election.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which are written in dependent form or otherwise include all the limitations of an allowed generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species. MPEP § 809.02(a).

The following claim(s) are generic: 33 and 34.

The species listed above do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, the species lack the same or corresponding special technical features for the following reasons: it is known in general to fasten a plurality of webs together before introduction to a longitudinal folding hopper, as shown for example in DE 2754179 A1 and fastening by adhesive, electrostatic charge, and parchmentizing are different special technical features.

7. If Group II is elected then a species restriction is required.

8. This application contains claims directed to more than one species of the generic invention. These species are deemed to lack unity of invention because they are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

The species are as follows:

A. Having an adhesive applicator for the fastening device (appears to read on claims 39-40).

B. Having a beading device for the fastening device (appears to read on claim 41).

C. Having a stapling device for the fastening device (appears to read on claims 42-45).

D. Having a pair of electrodes for the fastening device (appears to read on claims 46-54).

Applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single species to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. The reply must also identify the claims readable on the elected species, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered non-responsive unless accompanied by an election.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which are written in dependent form or otherwise include all the limitations of an allowed generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species. MPEP § 809.02(a).

The following claim(s) are generic: 38 and 55-62.

The species listed above do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, the species lack the same or corresponding special technical features for the following reasons: it is known in general to have a fastening device to fasten a plurality of webs together before introduction to a longitudinal folding hopper, as shown for example in DE 2754179 A1 and having the fastening device be an adhesive applicator, a beading device, a stapling device, or a pair of electrodes are different special technical features.

9. Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).
